

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XX.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1893.

NO. 100

CRAB ORCHARD.

—The ladies of the Christian church realized about $25 from their supper. Some very handsome cakes were sold at auction very cheap.

—Our young men are preparing for an entertainment in the near future to assist in buying instruments for their band. We hope this will be liberally patronized, as a good band is a great help to any town, and we have lots of musical talent here that ought to be cultivated.

—There was a large crowd in attendance at J. S. Fish's sale, and things that were sold brought fair prices. Milk cows sold from $10 to $25; hogs $3 to $6. As only $200 was bid for the farm the sale was stopped and Mr. Fish has decided to remain in Kentucky, which we are glad to note, for we dislike to give this family up.

—Mrs. J. G. Carpenter is visiting at her father's, J. S. Fish. Mrs. Wm. A. Arnold, of Lancaster, is with relatives here. Grand-ma Slavin has been quite sick, but we are glad to say is much improved. J. W. Gnest, of Danville, has been for a week attending to his interests here. A. B. Gikerson has gone to Chattanooga, Tenn., to look after his property there.

—Hobbs & James have begun distilling, turning off several barrels daily. Being a member of the W. C. T. U., I would like to express myself plainly in regard to this, but as both men are friends of mine I can only hope that they will soon see the error of their way and turn their energies to something that will help, not crush, their fellowman. R. H. Brownough has a fine lot of cattle to utilize the slop of this distillery.

LANCASTER, GARHARD COUNTY.

—Work on West & Batson's new store room has been greatly delayed on account of the disagreeable weather.

—Work on the large grain elevator near the depot has been resumed and the building will be completed in a few weeks.

—Willis Gilbert, a negro, got drunk and warmed up Battle Row Friday night. He was promptly escorted to jail by Chief Hamilton, $5 and costs.

—Jacob Joseph, the dry goods man, has rented the store-room recently vacated by W. T. West and will move his stock into the same next week.

—A very enjoyable impromptu hop was given at the Mason Hotel Friday evening. About a dozen couples "danced the hours away" to the music of Prof. Green's orchestra.

—If the time and space given in the city dailies to the sayings and doings of the millionaires were devoted to looking after the condition and wants of the poor, it would be more commendable and more beneficial to the world at large.

—The union services were held at the Presbyterian church Sunday night with sermon by Elder J. C. Frank. A large congregation attended, though having to wade through dark and muddy streets and crossings. It seems as though the street lamps have been abandoned altogether.

—Misses Della Hughes and Lizzie Simpson, of lower Garard, have returned from a visit to Miss Katie Simpson, at Gilbert's Creek. Mr. Sam Morrow, of Somerset, has been visiting at his uncle's, Col. W. O. Bradley. Miss Florence Jenkins, of Danville, has been the guest of Miss Mamie Curry. Mrs. J. C. Hemphill and daughter, Miss Theo., have returned from Louisville.

HUSTONVILLE.

—A rabid dog passed through Mr. Rios Jones' flock of sheep and at last accounts he had been forced to shoot it and had six more of his flock shut up, supposed to have been bitten.

—It has been suggested that the band have a supper each night of the school entertainments, as it is probable that those who attend will feel the need of refreshment before going home.

—Mrs. Joe Hopper, of Perryville, came up yesterday to see her new grand-child, a bright-eyed little girl, who arrived the day before to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce. Mrs. Dr. Lee F. Hoffman and daughter, of Lexington, are visiting friends here.

—A sensational dispatch is published in the Enquirer to the effect that a drummer enticed the daughter of a prominent Richmond man to one of Lexington's scarlet houses, from which she was rescued by her father and brother, the former taking her home and the latter going in pursuit of the man with blood in his eye and murder in his heart. No names are given, except that it is thought that the drummer's name is Stone.

—The Allan Line steamship Pomorian had a perilous experience in a storm on the Atlantic 1,150 miles out from Glasgow. Ten persons, including three first-class cabin passengers and the second officer, were swept overboard, while the captain and another passenger were fatally injured.

NOTES FROM ATLANTA, GA.

That little obscure quadruped, known as the ground-hog, evidently saw his shadow in this portion of Georgia, for excepting one day since G. H. day, the weather has been unbearably mean. Please pardon me for again referring to the weather.

Well, I have been here over two weeks now and have begun to feel like a citizen of the "Empire State of the South." I like Atlanta first-rate, but will not compare any place to that prince of Kentucky towns, dear old Stanford. Am not exactly homesick, but feel very much like I would like to spend a few days, at least, at home. The busy season in the grocery line will not last very much longer, however, and I hope in a couple of three weeks to again return to the newspaper business.

A few afternoons ago I accepted an invitation from Mr. Joshua D. Swope, who is here selling umbrellas, to take a drive and at the hour appointed he called with a fine turnout, drawn by genuine Kentucky horses. We drove all over the city, which necessitates quite a lengthy drive, and I was given a better opportunity than ever to see what Atlanta is doing for herself. The most decided improvements are on Peach Tree street, which has been extended far out into the country. Elegant dwellings, costing from $5,000 to $25,000, are going up in what was a dense forest 15 years ago and which is now cleared of the oak trees only where the houses stand. Peach Tree street, which commences in the very heart of the city, is extended out a distance of nearly three miles and is a street that most any city would feel proud of. Washington street is also being extended miles out and has on it many fine residences. A striking building on this street is the Jewish Orphan's Home, which cost $150,000. It is a commendable enterprise and the Jews are to be congratulated on the building and sustenance of it.

We then drove to Oakland Cemetery, in which are many fine monuments and vaults. There is a grand monument in honor of the Confederate dead, a large number of those who died for the Lost Cause being buried there. Westview, the other cemetery, also has a monument erected in honor of the Confederates and is an improvement, in the way of tombstones, over Oakland. We intended to visit the grounds where the great battle of Atlanta was fought, but darkness came on and we were compelled to postpone it.

Reverting to Mr. Swope, he tells me that the mule market is very dull and that he has been here three weeks with a car load and "nary" a one has been disposed of yet. Mr. Eugene Lee, of Danville, and Jas. Harper, of Hustonville, are both here buying and selling mules. The former reports good business.

I have never been a city where street cars run with such rapidity as they do here. They "knock the socks off" of the Kentucky Central between Stanford and Richmond, when it comes to speed. By the way, the Consolidated Street Railway Co. here was rather unfortunate last year. A number were killed and wounded by the cars and there have been and will be brought 91 suits against it, the aggregate amounting to $307,000. Should a third of the cases be won by the plaintiffs, the company will likely go to pieces.

The Atlanta ladies have not adopted the hoopskirt fashion yet, but there is considerable talk about them doing so. They won't stay behind the procession, and should there be a telegraphic report from Boston saying they are being worn there, I'll guarantee every female member of the 400 here would have them on before sunset. It is an intolerable style and I sincerely hope our sensible Stanford ladies will not fall in line this time, anyway. The Constitution here says this about them:

"Soon fashion from the stage will shove,
The dresses small and pert,
Instead of 'Pray excuse my glove,'
I'll be 'Excuse my skirt.'"

The charity organization is talking of opening a free soup and lunch house for the poor, who ask alms from door to door. The members of the organization (and the members will be composed of those persons who pay a few dollars yearly) will be supplied with tickets, to be given when they deem proper, and the beggar can then go and fill his long-felt want. It would be indeed a good idea, it seems to me.

Atlanta is likely to have a new courthouse, although the present one is both commodious and commanding in appearance. The city fathers think it hardly corresponds with the city, however, and as soon as a site can be decided on, it is more than probable that the work will be begun.

The Gate City citizens look with much pride on their fire department. The most modern engines, hooks and ladders are used and the firemen are said to be adepts at the business. Chief Joeger is an old-timer and as soon as the alarm is turned on he can be seen going to the scene driving his fine Kentucky steed at a break-neck speed. His horse, which is a fine one, is well-known here, better than probably a third of the inhabitants of the city.

Atlanta is not dependent on the agricultural products of her surrounding country, and it is fortunate for her, as the soil is very poor. It is good cotton and sweet potato land, though, and a great deal of each is raised. The Gate City is abreast with the times with manufacturing and it would be a hard task to find something that is not made here. There are no flies on Atlanta, anyway, and if you should believe there is ask an Atlanta man the next time you see one.

The headquarters of the people's party of this State is just across the street from my place of business, but if they have ever had a meeting since the cyclone of November last it is put on record. The p. p. was pretty badly snowed under then and since has not been able to resurrect itself.

The Grand Opera House, L. De Givie, manager and owner, was opened Friday night with Charles Frohman's great play, "Men and Women." An immense crowd was present and the opening was done with much pomp and ceremony. The Constitution in speaking of this opera house says: "It is the finest place of amusement in the United States, with the exception of the Tabor Grand at Denver, Colorado. There are a number of theatres much larger, but only one can eclipse it in elegance."

Our sister, Mrs. L. N. Vaughan, and son, Newton, of Richmond, Va., joined Tom and me Friday, to spend several days in the Gate City. We are of course enjoying their visit, as it is the first time we have met for a half dozen years. The presence of the editor of the I. J. would make the family reunion complete. They are both favorably impressed with Atlanta, and were surprised to see it such a metropolitan city. E. C. W.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—A great religious revival at the Northern Methodist church at Middlesboro, is in progress and in one week more than 100 have confessed.

—Rev. Fred D. Hale has accepted a call to the First Baptist church of Owensboro. The church is the largest and wealthiest in that city.

—John D. Rockefeller, the many-time millionaire, is a deacon in the Fifth Avenue Baptist church of New York and passes the contribution box every Sunday.

—Rev. J. E. Triplett, formerly of this country, who has been pastor of the Presbyterian church at Sweetwater, Tenn., has given it up to do evangelistic work.

—When Bishop Dudley took charge of the Episcopal Diocese of Kentucky, 18 years ago, the diocese had but 38 ministers; it has 50 now. The communicants were then 4,000; they now number 7,073. The mission contribution then was $2,000; it is now $5,870.

—Mrs. Dancy Anderson, the rich Fayette county widow, who has gone daft on Schweinfurth, the Dutch Christ, who holds forth at Eckford, Ill., and has converted her handsome home into a "heaven" for his converts, is said to be closely related by blood to the family of Hon. John D. Harris.

—We have another on the Lancaster Record-Homestead. In our issue of last Tuesday our impostor got mixed and put an item intended for our church column in the Lancaster letter. It was to the effect that the Methodist church Sunday-school here had decided to use its surplus to buy a library and that a committee would solicit books and cash contributions to aid its establishment. The Record didn't even smell the mouse, but changing the item a little, used it for the Methodist church in Lancaster. Our neighbor is always getting taken in by not keeping its eyes skinned.

—Over four millions in gold was exported Saturday, making the total exports so far this year nearly sixteen millions.

—Alderman George Droege, the man who had Hon. Harvey Myers indicted for attempted bribery, has himself been indicted by the grand jury for carrying concealed weapons.

—In New York Mrs. Betsy Shultz was convicted under an old law of being a common scold and fined, the amount with costs reaching $70. The judge remarked that if there was a duck-pond the woman would be ducked in it, but as there was none at hand he would simply impose the fine.

—All prospect of silver legislation at this session of Congress vanished when the House, by a majority of nine, refused to take up the bill repealing the Sherman act, by ordering the previous question. The democratic and republican members divided pretty evenly on the vote, but the ten populists all voted with the silver men.

—Five of the Panama suspects were sentenced at Paris as follows: Ferdinand de Lesseps, five years' imprisonment and a fine of 3,000 francs; Charles de Lesseps, five years' imprisonment and 3,000 francs; M. Eiffel, two years' imprisonment and 20,000 francs fine; M. Cottu, two years' imprisonment and 3,000 francs fine; M. Fontane, two years' imprisonment and 3,000 francs fine.

DANVILLE.

—Judge McFerran sent El Dunn and Matt Brooks to the work-house Friday evening for 30 days each for stealing coal from W. B. Good's car at the depot.

—The Danville Literary Club was entertained Friday night by Mr. G. W. Welsh. There was no debate, only general discussion, and plenty of good things to eat.

—Geo. E. Anderson, of this county, has bought of W. P. Davis, of Shelby, the fine saddle stallion, King Chester, for $2,000. After a season in the stud here King Chester will be sent to the World's Fair.

—Mr. Felix G. Fox, who has been in St. Louis and Kansas City for 17 years past, has definitely concluded to remain in Danville and practice law. His office for the present will be with his brother, Chas. C. Fox.

—Mrs. Dr. J. R. Best, of Middlesboro, is in town, called here by the illness of her sister, Miss Sally Barbee. Mr. R. W. Eastland, late of the drug firm of Logan & Eastland, is now State agent for the Globe Building and Loan Co.

—Sunday evening two buckshot came crashing through the window of Col. Thomas M. Green's residence on Lexington street. It is thought a boy with a gun sling or a Florentine was behind the buckshot when they started on their journey.

—Mr. Sam Larimer, assistant superintendent of collectors for the Chesapeake & Ohio railway, with headquarters at Ashland, Ky., is in town for a few days on a visit to old friends. Mr. Larimer is a native of Danville and a son of the late Samuel Larimer, at the time of his death a few years ago one of Danville's oldest and most respected citizens. Mr. Larimer was educated in Topeka, Kas., and has been in his present employment seven months. His brothers, Harry and Boyle, are successful lawyers in Topeka, William is a druggist, James is studying law with the two brothers and all named are doing well.

IN MEMORIAM.

—William Young was born in Pulaski county, Ky., June 3, 1821. He was the second son of Godfrey and Talitha Young. He came with his parents to Lincoln county, Ky., about the year 1835. He joined the Methodist church when about 16 years old. He was class-leader at Pleasant Hill for about 25 years. He moved to College Hill, in Madison county, in the fall of 1870 and from there to Kingman county, Kansas, in March, 1882. He was married to Elizabeth Bryant, March 30, 1841. To them were born ten children. On the 27th of January, 1893, he was as well as usual; went out to feed his calves; one of them hooked him, from which he suffered greatly until February 2, when death relieved him from his pain. He lived over a half century a faithful member of the church. His home was a home for ministers of the Gospel, many of whom will remember his kind hospitality. He was always ready to do all his power to support and build up the church. He was a good citizen and an obliging neighbor, a kind husband and a loving father. He leaves his faithful wife and six children to mourn his departure. Four children in Kansas and two in Lincoln county, Ky. But they do not mourn as those who have no hope, for his Christian life and dying testimony assure them that all is well with him. He told them not to grieve about him, for he was ready, was not afraid to die and going to a better world. He will be greatly missed by all, especially by his wife and children. But their loss is his gain, for we think of him now as safe at home in heaven, where wife, children, brothers, all expect to meet him in the sweet by-and-by. His funeral will be preached near his home in Rago, Kansas, Feb. 19th, also at Highland, Lincoln county, on the same day. JAMES S. YOUNG.

—His friends here will regret to learn of the death of Major W. N. Potts, which occurred last week at the home of his son, B. C. Potts, in Richmond. He was stricken with paralysis a few days before and never rallied. The Register says of him: The deceased was born in Jessamine county and came to Richmond in 1877, and established the celebrated Bonanza Mills. He took great pride in his business and few men in his profession were better known in the State or were more energetic or skillful. He was in his 75th year at the time he died and seven children. He was a member of the Methodist church, and was one of its most devoted and earnest followers.

—The Middlesboro News says that the Watts Steel and Iron syndicate has blown in one furnace. The report of the city assessor shows the total amount of taxable property to be $3,000,520 and of white voters 563; colored voters 144.

—A bill was passed by the Minnesota House of Representatives making the smoking of cigarettes a misdemeanor punishable by fine of from $25 to $50, or by imprisonment for 30 days.

—The Princess of Wales has taken a decided stand against the coming abolition, the hoopskirt.

SIX : PAGES.
EVERY FRIDAY.

It would take a man of the wonderful astuteness that a Philadelphia lawyer is supposed to possess to decide which of the four reports in the Mason-Ford convict lease matter is correct. The firm has presented an itemized account to the legislature, showing that the State is indebted to it about $40,000. The auditor, treasurer and attorney general say that the firm is indebted to the State some $60,000, subject to certain credits, while Gov. Brown and Secretary of State Headley in their minority report figure the firm's indebtedness at $94,000. How these wonderful discrepancies in book-keeping can occur is past comprehension, but one thing is apparent on the face of the whole matter, and that is that more politics than business is mixed up in it. In other words, there is evidently a cat concealed in the meat tub. If Gov. Brown has known all along that the lessees were behind the large sum that he says they owe, why has he not brought suit against them? They are perfectly solvent and if the questions can not be settled otherwise, the courts should pass upon them. The legislature is not the proper place for contracts to be construed and the questions would not have been brought before it but for the petty jealousies that exist among the State officers at Frankfort. It is claimed that the secret of Gov. Brown's hostility to the lessees was occasioned by the fact that they supported Watt Hardin for governor, but surely he is a man of a larger calibre than to permit himself to be governed by revenge in a matter so important to the State and people.

Thirty years ago, when her only son was killed in the battle of Murfreesboro and his body brought home, a widow o Rock Island, Tenn., declared that she would never part with it while she lived and that when death claimed her also both should be buried in one grave. She had an air-tight cedar casket made with a glass top, in which the body was laid. This was placed in a room assigned for that purpose, where the mother often repaired to commune with the dead. The body gradually became mummified. Thirty years it waited, an uncanny occupant, that gave the house a queer reputation. Last week the mother died and according to her request the bodies were given sepulchre together. It was rather a singular way to show affection and the dysynersy has cost her estate a valuable home. Everybody thinks it is haunted and no one will buy it.

This editor of the New York Sun is working his massive mind to prove that much of the disease and consequent death, which afflict mankind is communicated by kissing, and inveighing in the strongest terms against the custom. It is a waste of sweetness for two women to kiss and the sight of a couple of men osculating appals the stomach and both ought to be prohibited by law, but the kiss of love between an anxious young man and a willing maid is too near an approach to Heaven for the editor of the Sun, or any other son of a gun, to stay by the phantasmagoria of dire results that he presents. The risk of disease or death coming through such a contact wouldn't for one instant deter the young man who is properly built, but make him the more anxious to enjoy the sweet intoxication of "dwelling an age on every kiss."

It was rumored last week that Gen. Gustave Pierre Tontant, Beauregard, the distinguished Confederate general, was at the point of death at his home in New Orleans, but we are glad to state that he is better. As he is past the allotted span of three-score years and ten, he cannot, in the very nature of things, remain with us much longer, but must soon join the silent majority, into whose ranks the leaders of the bloody strife are so fast falling. Every year sees their number grow rapidly smaller and soon they and their valiant deeds will be but a memory.

It is sent out from Wyoming that Jno. Charles Thompson, late of Harrodsburg, Ky., stands a good chance to be elected U. S. Senator. If he is, the wisdom he displayed in taking Horace Greeley's advice and going West will be fully demonstrated. Had John Charles remained in his own native State he would never have been spoken in the same breath. Go West, young man, if you have the courage and ambition to rise in the world.

The announcement of Senator elect Allen, (the Nebraska) populist, that he will vote with the democrats in the organization of the next Senate and on all questions looking to tariff reform, settles the control of that body. It will be democratic and the democrats, after being out of control for more than 30 years, will on the 4th of March take charge of every branch of the government. As Bro. Barnes would say, so say we, Praise the Lord!

—Helder's Hotel, Cincinnati, burned and four Polish Jews were cremated.

This is St. Valentine's Day, but exactly when the custom of celebrating it began or why it was called after the saint of that name is not clear. In the 15th century the festival was a very popular one in England, Scotland and France. It was the custom then and until recently for the girls and boys to meet on the evening of the 14th of February and after writing their names on bits of paper to place them in a receptacle, from which they were drawn, each being taken that each should draw one of the opposite sex, the person drawn being one's valentine. This custom prevailed in America from an early day, but its observance in that manner has almost ceased, being now observed principally in exchanging anonymous communications either of a sentimental or indelicate nature. When the latter are sent in innocent fun they are quite amusing, but unfortunately advantage is taken of the custom by malicious persons to vent their spleen in a cowardly manner. These are beneath contempt, however, and their efforts should not be permitted to disturb the even tenor of our way.

The report, which seems fully confirmed that Mr. Cleveland has tendered the position of Secretary of State to Judge W. Q. Gresham, does not strike the average democrat favorably. The president-elect may know what he is about better than those who elected him, but the opinion will not down that there are a sufficient number of democrats in this country who have borne the heat and burden of the day, fully as capable and infinitely more deserving than this recent recruit, who does not even claim now to be a democrat, except on certain issues. The judge is broad minded man and will fill the premiership with ability, but it looks on the face of it to be unfortunate that the democratic administration should begin with an odor of mugwumpery hanging about its skirts.

The announcement that Miss Susan B. Anthony has become the mother of triplets will create a sensation, till it is explained that that is the name of a lioness in Lincoln Park, Chicago. The mother and her three cubs are doing as well as could be expected.

—W. H. Traylor bought of B. W. Gains 100 barrels of corn delivered as his distillery at $2.35.

—Wool.—I want to buy 100,000 lbs. or more of wool. Will pay highest market price. A. T. Nunnclley.

—P. W. Green sold to Ben Bright the old Hubble stallion, On Time, for $400. He is 20 years old this spring.

—Nearly every prominent racing State in the Union has passed, or will pass, laws making "fringing" a felony.

—FOR SALE.—50 mules, 14 to 16 hands high, 3 to 4 years old. Will sell one at a time or all. B. G. Gover, Milledgeville.

—A consignment of canvas back ducks from Chesapeake Bay was sold readily in London at 34 shillings (about $8.50) apiece.

—W. C. Smith bought of Mrs. Mathey two 2-year-old cotton mules at $75, three of Henry Baughman at $60 and 3 of W. P. Tate at $70.

—I have for sale 700 bales of hay, also 200 barrels of good white corn. Will deliver hay on cars at 60c per 100 pounds. John Buchanan, Crab Orchard.

—S. M. Sandulge and J. K. Huston are handling and breaking harness and saddle stock on the Pence farm, near Stanford, and solicit business in that line.

—The 30 acres of land belonging to J. L. Dawson's estate to go in corn rented yesterday to J. H. Bright at $6 an acre and the 20 to go in oats to Dan Stagg, Jr., at $2.40.

—The Paris Kentuckian-Citizen tells of a Bourbon county man who hogged a profit of $72,000 on an investment of $8,000 in pork. He bought last spring and sold out a few days ago.

—W. B. Jennings, of Washington, D. C., purchased of John E. Madden, of Lexington, Beautiful Bells and Deception, two 3-year-old fillies, paying $2,260 and $1,250 respectively.

PERSONAL POINTS.

DR. G. A. TRAYLOR, who has been seriously ill, is better.

MR. AND MRS. C. M. ELLIS, of Eminence, are guests of their son, Rev. W. E. Ellis.

MRS. FRANK HUGHES and Miss Jennie Coffey, of McKinney, are guests of Mrs. W. S. Warren.

SQUIRE M. S. BASTIN, who has been down on a visit to relatives, returned to Pittsburgh Friday.

MRS. CHARLEY SWEENEY and mother, Mrs. Smith, of Lancaster, passed thro' to Louisville yesterday.

MISS CLARA AND OPHELIA LACKY went home Saturday with Miss Mattie Miller, of Richmond, who has been their guest.

MR. JAS. B. GENTRY returned from Thomasville, Ga., yesterday, looking first-rate. He says Dick is also improving right along.

WM. HOLTCRAW, aged 55, of the Gilbert's Creek neighborhood, was not expected to live through last night. He has been ill a long time.

DR. J. G. CARPENTER has returned from a two-months' lecture course at the Philadelphia Polytechnic and College for Graduates of Medicine and is better prepared than ever to practice his specialty.

MRS. J. B. DOUGLAS and Miss Lizzie Hammond, who have made many friends during their stay here, will leave to day for Jellico. Capt. Douglas' "lay-off" is there and it is with difficulty he can see his family at all, situated as they are now.

MISS MARY CHESMAN is at the point of death from cancer, with which she has long suffered. Her illness has called to her bedside Miss Ellen Ballou, of Somerset, Miss Angie Ballou, of Clifton Forge, Va., and Humphrey Ballou, of Lancaster.

MR. W. W. PESS, traveling passenger agent of the L. & N., was here yesterday seeing after some Western emigrants. He tells us his road enjoyed the largest Mardi Gras travel for years, four solid extra trains being necessary to take those who could not find room on the regular trains.

CITY AND VICINITY.

Your account is ready. Call and settle. I mean you. A. R. Penny.

To RENT.—Office in INTERIOR JOURNAL building. Apply to W. P. Walton.

I am receiving a fine line of spring goods. Call and see them. H. C. Rappley.

Circuit Court will begin here on the 14th Monday and next Friday is the last day for filing suits.

LOST, in or near Stanford, $105, mostly in $20 bills. Finder will be rewarded by returning it to Peter Straub.

It is said that the engineers voted to strike, but a railroad official tells us that they will not do so, neither will President Smith accede to their demands.

MRS. JENNIE WEAREN has sold to Thomas C. Ball her lot in rear of the Presbyterian church for $450 and Mr. Ball has contracted to build several cottages on it.

Those who expected to see a certain individual roasted in this paper will be disappointed. The operation has by the request of mutual friends been postponed till Friday.

NOTICE.—Wanted, four respectable white women, to go to Philadelphia and be nurses in a private hospital. Must have common school education. Address P. O. Box 161, Stanford, Ky.

THE L. & N. has let to James Coyne & Co., of Louisville, the contract to build 12 miles of railroad from near Pineville to the rich Log Mountain coal fields, up Clear Creek, and several hundred men will be at once put to work.

SOMERSET is figuring on a creamery. Well, let her try it. Experience is a dear teacher, but the knowledge gained from it is lasting. If there is any doubt as to this proposition, consult the stockholders here of the defunct creamery, which ran into a hole with all the assets in short order, leaving liabilities largely in excess of the plant.

BROKE HIS LEG.—Squire E. B. Caldwell, Jr., of Waynesburg, suffered a severe accident a few days ago. He was working with a pile of lumber, when it was overturned and a portion of it striking his leg, broke it between the knee and ankle. The necessary surgical attention was soon rendered and the squire was doing well enough at last accounts to try to solve the missing word problem. His many friends here hope for his speedy recovery.

New sou'wester spoons at Danks'.

BOARDERS WANTED, either with or without rooms. Mrs. Annie Burks.

REMEMBER M. F. ELKIN pays the highest market price for furs, beef hides, &c., in cash.

FOR RENT.—The Capt. Gaines Craig house and lot on Upper Main street. P. M. McRoberts.

MR. E. W. SMITH, a civil engineer of large experience, offers his services to the people of this section. Those having work in his line will find it to their interest to consult him at the First National Bank.

COME and see our gents' and ladies' Blucher shoes in fawn and brown Russian and French calf and ladies' kid, all made on the new spring last. You should also see our ladies' wrappers from $1.25 to $3 and our blazer and reefer suits from $4.50 to $6.50.

Quite a number of people showed yesterday that they could pay a debt without being dunned, but many others failed to come to time. Our collections, though, were up to the average, for which we thank those who came up into the office to pay.

COAL THIEF.—Bruce Jones, a Pulaski farmer, made it his business to jump on every coal train on the Cincinnati Southern and throw off coal as fast as he could. He was caught dead to rights at it by detectives and held to answer, but he jumped his bail and fled. It is stated that he has sold this season over 500 bushels of coal obtained in this way.

Snow enough fell Friday to have reached a foot in depth had it not melted so fast. As it was, it covered the earth several inches and left in its wake the largest amount of the stickiest kind of mud ever seen. Several rains have fallen since and streets and roads are almost impassable. The signal service promises showers and warmer weather for today.

For some time the editor of the Harrodsburg Democrat has been working up a sentiment in favor of a new courthouse for Mercer county, the present being totally inadequate in every particular for the purposes intended. In his charge to the grand jury Judge Santley called attention to the question and it is more than probable that that body will condemn the building.

A man dog got in Mr. A. M. Felani's herd of Cashmere goats, but was killed before he did a great deal of damage, the extent of which, however, is not yet ascertained. If our legislators could give us the whipping post they might at least enact a dog law, in requite people to keep their dogs confined so that they could not spread death and destruction.

THE lecture course started off very gratifyingly. Prof. Hedley's lecture caught the audience, which was a good sized one, and it was liberal with its applause and laughter throughout. It was a clever mingling of wit and wisdom, humor and pathos, sense and nonsense, and barring two or three features, notably the Texas courtship and the take-off on the female vocalist, which were beneath the dignity of the occasion, it was quite enjoyable and instructive. The receipts were fully up to expectation and the originators of the scheme are proud of their success. John DeWitt Miller is the next lecturer and he will discourse on the "Uses of Ugliness" at Walton's Opera House Feb. 21.

MR. JOHN M. HALL is the latest victim of the thieves, who seem to grow bolder and bolder in their operations here. His meat-house, which is within a few feet of his back room, was entered Thursday night and four hams, four sides and a shoulder taken. As this was exactly half of the lot, Mr. Hall is thankful that the thieves were so considerate. Entrance was effected by breaking the back. As soon as Marshal Newland was apprised of the theft he set to work to catch the perpetrators. It had rained the same night and tracks were hard to find, but he finally on Saturday struck a trail, which led him across the creek and up the hill to Mayor Vandever's barn on the Somerset pike. In this barn, carefully covered up in hay was the meat. Rejoiced at his find, the officer then began to try to connect the guilty parties with the crime. He found out that Pete Miller, Bob Hansford and George Lackey worked on the place and that they had keys to the barn. They were soon arrested, together with Mitch Bailey, some of whom gave bail and others went to jail, their trials being fixed for today. There were two sets of tracks leading from the meat house and those that are still partially defined look very much as if made by the shoe of Hansford, who has already served a term in the penitentiary for stealing. Saturday night Mr. Newland and a posse of two went to Hansford's house to see if they could find other stolen property and while he was in the house someone shot at the men, the ball striking in the mud and splattering them in the face. If a conviction can be secured in this case, it is likely that the other robberies will be furnished a clue and that the business which has been so industriously worked here for several months will cease.

THE Court of Appeals reversed the sentence of the Pulaski circuit court against Ex-Mayor Higgins, charged with detaining a young woman against her will, because of the error in not allowing him a change of venue. The sentence was two years in the penitentiary.

IN the county court yesterday the will of Mr. Lewis Duddelar was admitted to probate. It is the shortest one ever presented here and leaves all of his property of every description to his wife, Mrs. Anna A. Duddelar, whom he names as executor. She waived the right, however, and W. M. Duddelar qualified as administrator. The will of Sallie Caldwell was also probated. Dr. Hawkins Brown qualified as administrator of Eliza Huston. R. J. Cassidy obtained license to peddle patent medicines in the county. A greater portion of the day was given to the contest as to whether P. W. Green should be allowed liquor license for his hotel at McKinney. Forty-one persons signed a protest against it out of a voting population of 72 to 79, according to the two counts. Mr. R. C. Warren, for Mr. Green, denied that some of the signers are citizens and it took considerable time for the court to decide. The contest will continue to-day.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Very few couples live to celebrate their golden wedding, the 50th anniversary, but John Ballinger and wife, of Malloon, Ill., have just observed the 76th annual recurrence of the day that saw them united. He is 101 and she 94.

—Another old man was married yesterday. Henry G. Jiles, aged 72, took upon himself the marriage vows for the fourth time, when he led Mrs. Russia Frost, a widow, on the shady side of 40, to the altar. He is from Indiana, she from Rockcastle. Rev. A. V. Sizemore tied the knot at the Carpenter House.

—Love, like hope, must spring eternal in the human breast, when two people long past the number of years referred to in Psalms 90:10 court and marry. In the neighborhood of Moreland this "good St. Valentine's Day in 1893" Mr. James Wheeler, aged 55, and Mrs. Drusilla Clemons, 72, will unite their destinies for their few remaining days on earth.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Supply the Missing Words.

Answers to the missing word problem continue to come in at the rate of 25 to 50 a day, from various points of this and other States. The contest will close on Thursday afternoon next, up to which time everybody who sends a solution will be given a fair chance for the prizes of a year's subscription to this paper and any magazine selected, in addition to a special prize of $10 in gold. We give the sentences again. When they appear Friday, the missing words will be placed.

No. 1. B— — — — e. Was not considered desirable at the Minneapolis National Republican Convention by a majority of the delegates.

2. B— — — — l. That which every plain woman would desire to become.

3. C— — — — —. One who served to defeat James G. Blaine for the Presidency in 1884.

4. — — — — gh. A result usually caused by a current of air or draught.

5. — — — — r. That which you can get five thousand of by winning the first prize herein offered.

6. — — — — ss. Something that foolish women who love display sometimes spend too much money for.

7. — — — — ht. Something that pugilists are always willing to do if there is money in it.

8. Ha—ri— — — A man whose name is almost constantly in newspapers and whose trip to California attracted great crowds whenever he appeared in public.

9. — — — — —e. When of beauty and value serves to improve, beautify and adorn and brighten any home.

10. Qn— — — — —e. Probably better liked across the ocean than by most Americans.

BROUGHT TO HER SENSES.

"Greg, are you awake?" calls a muffled heap of femininity upon the sofa.
 "I am."
 "I've just come across these old letters in my desk. I'm going to read them aloud."

"I'm at your mercy."
 "I'll poke up the fire first. I want more light. There! Just listen to this now:
 "MY OWN DEAREST GREGORY—For the last time I write you thus. Yes, I must indeed be so. It has all been a happy, foolish dream, but now it must end. Today I release you from our engagement. A marriage between us would be most ridiculous."
 "We are both so very young—too young to decide so important a matter. Maumie says so, and I am sure she is right. We have had a long talk. Besides your salary has proved itself too small for me."
 "Now, dear friend, do nothing rash. Men do not die of love. Your life is not your own, so no experiments with laurels. Do not come to see me. My mind is fully made up. I shall travel with dear Maumie and see more of this great world than I have hitherto known."
 "Now write me a nice letter and tell me that I am a very sensible girl. Be brave, no nonsense. And remember that I am ever your devoted friend,
 "That was a nice letter to read when a fellow was hungry!"
 "Did you receive it before dinner? I might have known you did by your hateful answer. Here it is:
 "MY DEAR LUCY—You are indeed a sensible girl, and I am proud of my little friend's judgment. You always were a trump. My mind is much relieved by your decision. I have often thought that perhaps we were a little foolish, didn't you know?
 "I didn't like to say so myself, though.
 "You will pardon the brief character of this note when I tell you that Tom Wayland is waiting for me. We are just off to the Club to dine."
 "By the way, that report in regard to his sister's engagement is false. She told me so herself this afternoon. And now goodbye, little kitten. Be happy, but of course you will. It is the warm wish of your friend,
 "P. S.—Reminds to your mother. Appreciate her. You may not always have her."
 "What a villain you were!"
 A sigh. A chuckle from amid the cigarette smoke.
 "What fools girls are!" from the sofa.
 "This easy to forgive them for it—as long as they're pretty. Go on. Read your answer."
 She reads:
 "Sir—I have heard before of the transient nature of man's love, but allow me to assure you that I have found yours more ephemeral than any yet on record."
 Interpolated chuckle from the big armchair and vigorous responses of "Wretch!" from sofa. Resumes letter:
 "As for Miss Wayland, I am glad somebody finds so much to admire about her. The poor thing never had any attention before. I hope you may both be happy."
 Voice from armchair, "She was a beauty."
 Voice from sofa, "She was horrid—great, big, ugly thing!"
 "Go on."
 "Hm! Where was I? Oh, here."
 Reads:
 "As for my mother, she inherits her worldliness. I have not spoken to her today. And now goodbye—what a word! May you forget the rule you have wrought in a young girl's heart! I shall pray for you always. My death soon claim
 "What a wretch you were!"
 "A very clever wretch, I think."
 "Was it a trick?"
 "It was—and it succeeded."—Boston Globe.

How He Knew.
 Before the fish commissioners of California decided to stock the streams of the state with that much despised but powerful fish, the German carp, they were greatly concerned as to whether it would live in certain waters. The question was debated at several meetings and was finally submitted to Professor H—, an eminent authority.
 Samples of the water were obtained and turned over to the professor, who in a short time submitted a favorable report, and the carp were accordingly turned loose in the rivers.
 The commissioners were greatly impressed by the professor's knowledge, but one of them had a question to ask.
 "How could you be sure that carp would live in the water submitted to you?" he inquired.
 "Why," answered the professor, with an amused look, "I bought a carp for 10 cents and put it into the water. It lived."—Yonkers Companion.

Not Enough.
 Member of Committee—We expect to hold a convention of inventors of safety car couplers in this city shortly, and I would like to make arrangements to have them all stop at this hotel, if suitable terms can be made.
 Clerk (of down town hotel, in consternation)—My dear sir, we have only 1,300 rooms in the house.—Chicago Tribune.

Evidence of Good Faith.
 "Of course you are willing to work," observed the lady.
 "How can you doubt it?" protested the tramp when after a short rest he attacked with renewed vigor the chicken leg she had given him.—Detroit Tribune.

The Way.
 Skidds—I wish I could get a great literary name.
 Snooper—All you have to do is to win a prize fight.—Truth.

Look Out!
 "Say, dad!"
 "Well?"
 "Ma says you are to bring that worm to her instead of gadding over to that brown hen with it, and she says if you don't she'll teach you how the term 'hen-pecked' originated."—Life.

INTO EACH LIFE SOME RAIN MUST FALL.

"Into each life?" Ay, even so. Clouds must gather; or swift or slow, And the bluest sky be darkened soon By the thunder clouds crowding the busy noon, But, blessings on the rain!
 Freshness and beauty come in its train. And though the drops fall, Glory and sunshine follow them all.

The clouds that have no rain Are the darkest and coldest, most sad and drear; Most dull and gray, with no promise of cheer. Silence and gloom are in their train And the wind moans wearily. A wail it has caught from a restless sea. On whose breast a storm sits brooding. And through all one's brain Goes a sense of pain, A saddest interluding As in harm on with the mournful strain, That is sighing in the breeze— That is mourning 'mid the leafless trees, A sad requiem over all

The fading life wherein no rain doth fall. What life but bath its tears? No sweeter made. What were the sunshine but for the shade? A weary monotony that will not fade. We mourn our changes, but they are As glory of the sun or star, Through cloudy day or night clear breaking. Shining far off, may be, but still shining. As in rebuke most sweet of our repining. Behold, the rited clouds are taking Their silent night, and with them go our fears. Shines not the sun the brighter for the rain? Is not the grass more green, more golden-hued the grain?
 And who shall dare to say that through our lives There runneth not the same analogy? For unto each and all of us arrives The same old change of sunshine and of cloud From exult to snowy shroud.

Something to Remember.

If you're a weak or ailing woman—that there's only one medicine sure to help you that can be guaranteed. It's Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In building up overworked, feeble, delicate women, or in any "female complaint" or weakness, if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening acridine and a safe and certain remedy for women's ailments. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains and restores health and strength. Nothing else can be as cheap. With this, you pay only for the good you get.

Just the Thing.

This is an expression the traveling public generally use when they find something that is exactly what they want. This expression applies directly to the Wisconsin Central Lines, which is now admitted by all to be "The Route" from Chicago to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Ashland, Duluth and all points in the Northwest. Their double daily train service and fine equipment offers in duce ment which can not be surpassed.
 This is the only line running both through Pullman First-Class and Tourist Sleepers from Chicago to Pacific Coast points without change.

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good if you have a cough, cold or any trouble with throat, chest or lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at A. K. Penny's drug store, large size 50 cents and 30.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism; his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him. He was cured of his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, S. C., had five large fever sores on his leg; doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by A. K. Penny, drug-gist.

Mr. Albert Pavolite, of Arkansas City, Kansas, wishes to give our readers the benefit of his experience with colds. One bottle of Electric Bitters early last spring that settled on my lungs and had hardly recovered from it, when I caught another that hung on all summer and left me with a hacking cough which I thought I would never get rid of. I had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy some fourteen years ago, with much success and concluded to try it again. When I had got through with one bottle my cough had left me and I have not suffered with a cough or cold since. I have recommended it to others and all speak well of it. See bottles for sale by W. B. McKelvey, Druggist, Stanford, Ky.

Mr. C. F. Davis, editor of the Bloomfield Iowa Farmer, says: "I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all sufferers with colds and croup. I have used it in my family for the past two years and have found it the best I ever used for the purpose for which it is intended." See bottles for sale by W. B. McKelvey, Druggist, Stanford, Ky.

Joseph V. Doty, of Warsaw, Ill., was troubled with rheumatism and tried a number of different remedies, but says none of them seemed to do him any good; finally he got hold of one that speedily cured him. He was much pleased with it and told others that others similarly afflicted would like to know what the remedy was that cured him. He states for the benefit of the public that it is called Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by W. B. McKelvey, Druggist, Stanford, Ky.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.
 The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, skin, chapped hands, chilblains, eczema and all other eruptions and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed in every port of satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by A. K. Penny, Stanford, Ky.
